Job description

Limbic Entertainment is looking for a talented Junior Programmer (m/f) for an unannounced Unreal Engine 4 project.

As our Junior Programmer (m/f), you will have a great passion for games and how they are created and work. In this position, the main responsibility is the implementation of gameplay features that match the quality and performance requirements. You will work closely with game designers and artists to implement gameplay behaviour. Refactoring and unit testing will be a core aspect of your work and you will become familiar with iterative working styles.

Your tasks will include:
