Job description

We are looking for a motivated and passionate Junior Game Tester to be part of a multi-disciplinary team working on Drakensang Online.

Drakensang Online is an award winning, epic fantasy Action-RPG incorporating the best elements from classic MMORPGs. Players traverse across the game world, embarking on quests and engaging in a huge variety of PvP and PvE battles in their search for rare loot. Produced at Bigpoint's Berlin development hub using our own proprietary Nebula engine, it was the first cross platform (client + browser) 3D AAA action RPG developed in Europe.

In this role, you'll be responsible for executing functionality tests on game features and components while closely working together with developers and the design team to provide high-quality feedback. This way, we make sure our players can enjoy a fun and bug-free
