Your mission

- You prepare promotions, events and sales with the support of us
- You help the game teams to meet the needs of our players
- You communicate actively with the relevant departments on issues such as tasks, concepts and feedback iterations
- You support us in our search for new opportunities by evaluating new games and providing feedback

Your skills

- You have knowledge about basic design processes and game functionalities
- You have an understanding of game-related trends and the market for online games
- You are passionate about online games
- You're open, communicative, and enjoy engaging with others
- You enjoy working in a team environment and are keen to learn more through practice

Your Gameforge setting

- An international company awaits you! English is our company language, as employees from over 25 nations are part of our team
- Flexibility and safety are important to us! We reacted quickly when the Corona pandemic began, enabling all our employees to work from home. When you join us, you will enjoy a structured digital onboarding program and the work equipment sent to you.
- Need a break from work? No problem! Play a round of table tennis or pinball in our games room, or take a walk around the leafy technology park
- Where colleagues become friends! Regular team events and an open company culture

About Gameforge

Founded in 2002, Gameforge is a leading publisher and operator of highly acclaimed Massively

Multiplayer Online (MMO) and browser-based game titles. Gameforge builds active, enduring global communities while supporting players through the highest quality LiveOps, localized community management, and impactful delivery of fresh content.

Gameforge's diverse portfolio of highly successful gaming brands provides engaging experiences for players from all walks of life: core MMORPG titles like AION, TERA, Kingdom Under Fire 2, and Metin2, beloved anime MMOs like Elsword, NosTale, and SoulWorker, along with strategy-focused browser games like ODGame and Ultimate Pirates.
