Entry date: immediately
Place of work: Bielefeld

My name is Alexa and I am a hobby writer from Germany, who seeks a job where I can be creative besides university. I am practiced in creative writing such as writing and planning storylines in any genre, but especially fantasy. I can do tasks like world-building, story writing and creating, writing dialogue and backstory, or translating existing work from English into German. I am good at writing in German and understanding/translating English text. In my free time I mostly like to play story games or survival horror games. I work from home.
